UNION COLLEGE JUNIOR WAS KILLED

sor's Request.
[Special to The Gazette.]

Schenectady, N. Y., March 6.—Be- fore the eyes of his classmates, who were watching an experiment in which he had volunteered, Paul Wait, a junior and a student of the electrical engineering course in Union college, was killed by electricity Monday in the laboratory of the college. The class of which Wait was member was gathered in the labora- tory at 2 o'clock in the afternoon for the usual lecture. The instructor, in illustrating his remarks with ex- periments, asked one of the students to help him. Wait stepped forward and helped rig up the apparatus, which was connected with the high tension electric service of the college. The students were watching the electrical apparatus curiously when the lecturer asked Wait to throw open the switch. As he did so the boy's body came in contact with an exposed portion of the apparatus, and 2,300 volts passed through his body. Wait fell to the floor unconscious, while the students rushed forward to save him. The lecturer ran out of the room and summoned medical as- sistance, bringing Dr. Herbert L. Towne, the physical director, at once to the laboratory. Dead in Two Hours. Resuscitation was attempted, and for two hours the physician and stu- dents took turns in working over Wait. He died two hours after re- ceiving the electrical shock. The college has been thrown into mourning as a result of the young man's death. Wait was a prominent member of the Chi Psi fraternity, and was also one of the best athletes in the college. His home was in Fort Edward, his father being one of the wealthiest men of that town. Parents Learn of Death. Before the body is sent home, fu- neral services will be held in the col- lege. A delegation of students will accompany it to the Wait home. Word of the young man's death was sent to his parents, and it was learned that his mother became hysterical. Wait had been home the day before, and had left his parents in a happy frame of mind. SUSAN B. ANTHONY NOW CRITICALLY ILL

Famous Woman Reformer Is Suffering from Pneumonia in Rochester.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rochester, N. Y., March 6.—Miss Susan B. Anthony is seriously ill at her home here with pneumonia.

Susan Brownell Anthony, probably the best known advocate of woman suffrage in America, was born at Adams, Mass., Feb. 15, 1820. When Miss Anthony was still in her teens her parents removed to New York state, and in 1846 settled at Roches- ter, which city the eminent reformer continued to call her home up to the present time. Miss Anthony received a liberal education, and spent the early part of her career as a school teacher, which profession her father had followed before her. Miss Anthony first spoke in public in 1847, and from that time took part in the temperance movement, organ- izing societies and lecturing. In 1851 she called a temperance convention in Albany, after being refused admis- sion to a previous convention on ac- count of her sex. In 1852 the Woman's New York State Temperance so- ciety was organized. Through her exertions, and those of Mrs. Eliza- beth Cady Stanton, women came to be admitted to educational and other conventions with the right to speak, vote, and serve on committees. About 1857, she became prominent among the agitators for the abolition of slavery. In 1858 she made a report in a teachers' convention in Troy in favor of the co-education of the sexes. But it was to secure equal civil rights for women that the energies of her life were chiefly directed. In 1854-55 she held conventions in each county of New York in the cause of female suffrage, and from that time on she addressed annual appeals and peti- tions to the legislature. She was active in securing the passage of the act of the New York legislature of 1860, giving to married women the possession of their earnings, the guar- dian ship of their children, etc. Dur- ing the civil war she devoted herself to the women's loyal league, which petitioned congress in favor of the 13th amendment. In 1860 she started a petition in favor of leaving out the word "male" in the 14th amendment, and worked with the national woman suffrage as- sociation to induce congress to secure to her sex the right of voting. In 1867 she went to Kansas with Eliza- beth Cady Stanton and Lucy Stone, and there obtained 9,000 votes in fa- vor of woman suffrage. In 1868, with the co-operation of Mrs. Stanton and Parker Pillsbury, and with the as- sistance of George Francis Train, Miss Anthony began in New York city the publication of a weekly paper called "The Revolutionist," devoted to the emancipation of women. In 1872 Miss Anthony cast ballots at the state and congressional election in Rochester in order to test the application of the 14th and 15th amendments of the United States constitution. She was indicted for illegal voting, and was fined by Justice Hunt, but, in ac- cordance with her defiant declaration, never paid the penalty. Between 1870 and 1880 she lectured in all the northern and several of the southern states more than one hundred times a year. She appeared before every congress since 1869 and presented a petition for a constitutional amend-

COUNCIL'S MOVEIN APPOINTING ATTORNEY TO AID IN SDWER CASE.

MUCH IMPORTANT BUSINESS

Was Transacted at the Regular Meeting of the Aldermen and City
Officers Last Night.

City Attorney Fred Burpee resents the action of the city council in appointing a lawyer to assist him in the defense of the circuit court action of R. T. Haaraan et al vs the City of Janesville, brought to recover the $13,940 claims for "extra" sewer work which were disallowed last fall. The city attorney was present in the council chamber when Alderman Connell introduced the order appointing the chairman of the judicial committee to retain U. S. District Attorney W. G. Wheeler as additional counsel for the city in this action, stating at the same time that such steps had been deemed advisable by the finance committee at the meeting Monday afternoon. The measure passed without debate, by a unanimous vote. Mr. Burpee was not apprised of the matter until after the session had adjourned. He said: "The council might have had the courtesy to consult with me before passing such an order. It is customary. The work is entirely within my province. I have not asked for any assistance, and furthermore, if this case comes up within my term of office I shall try it alone. It is quite possible that it will not be tried before election time, though the date is now set as 'some time' after April 1. In that event I refuse to have the extra expense saddled onto my term of office when it rightfully belongs to that of my successor."

Grading in Forest Park.
Reports were received from the city marshal, the chief engineer, the city treasurer, and the municipal court. The same were placed on file. The bills and salary list were reported by the finance committee and favorably passed upon. A resolution introduced by Ald. Jackson and passed provides for the grading of Forest Park boulevard from Ruger avenue to Oakland avenue, south Third street to Sinclair to Garfield, and certain portions of Garfield, Valentine, Oakland, Norris, and Jefferson avenues and streets, according to the plans discussed by property owners, the highway committee, and the city engineer at a special hearing held on Thursday, Feb. 22. A petition from the residents of Oakland and Jefferson avenues for a 50-candlepower electric light at or near the terminal of the Forest Park street car line was taken under advisement. Mayor Hutchinson's appointments of George H. Phillips, H. M. Weaver, John Dalton, and John Benson as special police officers without pay from March 1 to May 29 were confirmed. The judicial committee asked for and was granted further time for the consideration of the claims of Anna Bull and Frank Zahn against the city.

Again Reputed Art.
Art received another staggering blow when Chairman Brockhaus of the committee on parks sought to have an order passed directing the city clerk to purchase a bronze statue costing not more than $150 to be placed on the new drinking fountain at the Courthouse park. The aldermen had previously passed a measure authorizing the street assessment committee to receive bids for the construction of drinking fountains on the Corn Exchange, at the Courthouse park, and at the intersection of Pleasant and West Milwaukee streets, said work to be completed by May 15. These fountains are to be of uniform design, according to plans submitted by the city engineer last fall. The only bid received at that time was $148 for each fountain. When the statue order was presented it at once aroused protest.

Ald. Jackson—"I think the council ought to select the design."

Ald. Merritt—"The park committee selected one last fall but thought they would not put it out for the winter. It was pretty scantily clothed."

City Clerk Badger—"There was an amendment to the original order providing that it be laid over until spring."

Ald. Brockhaus—"We concluded that the Court House park, on account of the many visitors and sightseers, wanted something monumental. We thought if his fountain ornament would add to the beauty of the place, it stands five feet high and is made of iron."

When the matter was put to a vote the order was lost. Ald. Brockhaus subsequently denied that the bronze fountain goddess was not properly clothed.

Flagmen on Western Avenue.
An order introduced by Ald. Murray calling upon the city clerk to purchase two carloads of paving brick, was passed. An ordinance requiring the C. M. & St. P. and the C. & N. Y. Ry. Cos. to keep flagmen at all times from the hours of 6 a. m. to 10 p. m. or in lieu thereof to install automatic electric crossing bells, on penalty of a fine of $100 and $100 more for each 24 hours which might elapse without their complying with the notice from the city marshal or mayor, was advanced to its third reading and placed on passage. An ordinance providing for the adoption of such provisions of the general charter law as should enable the city of Janesville to employ one or more additional assessors besides those provided for in the special charter, was introduced and given its first and second readings.

River Boundary Measure.
Ald. Jackson introduced an ordinance establishing the boundaries of the Rock river from the Fourth avenue bridge to Center street according to the red lines in the plat prepared by the city engineer. It was stipulated that nothing therein contained should be construed as in any way recognizing or affecting the title of property owners to sections of the river bed lying between said boundary lines and the present river banks.

This measure was given its first and second reading and may come up for final consideration at the next meeting.

Pay of Election Officials.
Alderman Merritt introduced a resolution establishing the following schedule of salaries for election officials: Pay of inspectors and clerks for any spring primary, spring election, or special election—$4 a day; for any fall primary or fall election—$5 a day; for registration days—$3 per day. This is the old schedule before the first primary law providing that not more than $3 a day should be paid to inspectors and clerks at any primary was passed. This provision was repealed by the last legislature and clerks were given the power to fix their own rates within certain limits.

Order on Library Board.
Ald. Hager introduced an order providing for the reconsideration of the order placing a 150-candlepower light at the intersection of South Jackson and Riverside streets, passed at a previous meeting, and authorizing the placing of the same on Riverside street one block west of this point. Ald. Fish called attention to the fact that Manager Korst of the Electric Light Co. had stated that hereafter the company would have to charge the city for moving lights, as in some recent instances, it had entailed an expense of $30 or more to the company. Ald. Sheridan stated that the light in question had been ordered but had not been installed. Ald. Hager's measure passed. Mayor Hutchinson announced that there had been a vacancy on the library board since the death of the late Stanley Smith and said that he would appoint David Conger of the first ward to fill the vacancy. The appointment was confirmed by the council.

Wash-Outs and Sewers.
An order introduced by Ald. Brockhaus and passed directed the street commissioner to repair the wash-out on Racine, Gleneta, and South Bluff streets, at the intersection of Wheel street. Ald. Fish said that he believed that the city would save money in the long run by substituting the open sewers with iron grating, which can be readily cleaned, for the tiling which is continually clogging up. It might cost double the amount in the beginning, but constructions like that on Franklin street would pay in the end. Ald. Jackson suggested that City Engineer Kerch investigate the cost of grating if bought in large quantities and other phases of the matter and report in the near future. The council adjourned. All the aldermen were present at the session.

BASE BALL CAPTAIN

TO LEAVE HIS TEAM

Last of Interest in University Athletic Circles Makes This Advisable.

Madison, Wis., March 6.—The exclusion of crack athletes from the University of Wisconsin, consequent upon the determination to practically abolish football and other intercollegiate sports, continues. The latest to announce his decision to quit college is Platt Brush, captain of the baseball team and for three years one of the leading players on the badger line. He has been in charge of the candidates for the team, but has found it uphill work and gives it up. The faculty has decreed that the preponderance of importance of football shall go, and of course with it will go the financial support of all the leading branches of sport, for football pays the expenses of all, being the only money-making game here. Last year the receipts of the athletic association were $48,000, nearly all from football, and with the assurance that football would be practically discarded, the athletic authorities acted upon the necessity of eliminating the expenses of coaches, trainers and supplies for the other sports. This left the baseball with no teacher other than Captain Brush. Old players left college or refused to appear for practice, and the new material was not good enough to present any prospects of a creditable team. It is said that Captain Brush will turn professional and join some regularly organized club.

Andrew Carnegie has signified his intention to donate $25,000 to Rio Grande college, a Baptist theological school at Rio Grande, Gallia county, O.

—FORTY YEARS AGO—

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, March 6, 1866—
VOX POPULI VOX DEI

Congress Must be Sustained.

A LARGE AND ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.

The Union Men of Old Rock Stand Firm For Liberty and Justice.

No Reconstruction That Makes Treason Respectable.

Andrew Johnson Must Adhere to Former Pledges.

Senator Doolittle Severely Censured.

THE SPEECHES, RESOLUTIONS, ETC.

One of the largest, most enthusiastic and most respectable public meetings ever held in Rock county convened in Lippin's Hall last night, to discuss the political problems of the hour, and express the opinions of its members upon these exciting questions that are now agitating Congress and the country. The large hall was filled at an early hour and large numbers went away unable to gain admittance. The temper of the meeting was excellent, the sentiments of all speakers were expressed boldly and unreservedly, yet kindly and respectfully. The resolutions speak for themselves, and are so plain spoken, and emphatic that he who runs may read and know precisely where the people of old Rock stand upon the all absorbing questions of these exciting and eventful times. We respectfully invite the President's attention to them as the voice of the county that gave for himself and his lamented predecessor, thirty-three hundred majority, and which gave liberally of the flower of its population to be laid upon the altar of our common country. It is the expression of those who earnestly labored for his election, and who, are still anxious to aid him, by every possible means, to give permanent peace to the whole country. (Hon. James Sutherland was elected president of the meeting and as such, delivered an eloquent address. H. N. Comstock and Willard Merrill followed him with remarks. The resolutions reported and adopted are in part: Resolved, that it is the right and duty of Congress to determine where and upon what conditions, the rebel states shall be restored to their normal condition, in the Union, and that any attempt on the part of the executive department of the government to such time or conditions is a dangerous and unwarrantable usurpation of power. That we disapprove of the course of Senator Doolittle in sustaining the veto of the Freedman's Bureau Bill; that his defense of the President's objections to said bill, founded upon the Constitution and public policy, and his hearty support of said bill upon its passage through the Senate are strangely inconsistent. That we heartily approve of the course of Hon. T. O. Howe and I. C. Sloan in sustaining the action of the Congressional majority upon the Freedman's Bureau Bill and upon the question of admission of the recently accredited representative from the rebel states. Following the resolutions, thoughts of several were heard. Among the speakers were H. N. Comstock, J. R. Bennett, Prof. Maxon of Milton, William B. Hayes, and J. B. Cassaday.)

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, March 5.—At a recent meeting of the library board the contract for Edgerton's new Carnegie library was let to The Appleton Construction Co. for $7,264. This figure not including heating, lighting and plumbing. With Mr. Edgerton's gift of $10,000 and a private subscription making the amount $17,000 in all, Edgerton hopes to have a very fine public library by another fall. As soon as the weather will permit the work on the building will be commenced. The basement will be of Bedford stone and the building proper of Roman pressed brick with Bedford stone trimmings. The library and reading room will occupy the main floor, while the lower story will be given over to an audience room with accommodations for 400 people.

The following menu was served: Sliced oranges, creamed chicken, scalloped potatoes, coffee, pickles, sandwiches, fruit salad, wafers, maple parrel, apple food cake. The afternoon passed quickly in the playing of euchre in which Miss Helen Henderson won high honors.

At morning worship at the Congregational church there were special solos by Miss Norma Hargreaves and S. Roethe. PURE FOOD BILL.

Heyburn Measure, as Amended, Will Be Reported to House.

Washington, March 6.—After deciding on several important amendments the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce Monday agreed to report the Heyburn pure food bill passed by the Senate. Representative Mann of Illinois will submit the measure, but a minority report prepared by Representatives Adamson and Bartlett of Georgia and Russell of Texas, protesting against what they term the usurpation by the government of the police powers of the state, will be prepared. One of the amendments of vital importance of the whisky interests provides that "harmless coloring and flavoring extracts may be added to goods, providing they are not misbranded. This will permit the sale of blended whisky. Another amendment provides that the committee on food standards of the association of state dairy and food departments shall be consulted by the Secretary of Agriculture in fixing a standard.

Market Is Heard Again.

Washington, March 6.—Jacob E. Markel of Omaha, whose commissary contract with the isthmus canal commission was canceled, again appeared Monday as a witness before the senate committee on intercommerce. He repeated his denials that he had the advantage of sample menus prepared by Hudgins & Dumas of New York in making his bid. Senator Morgan had put on file for future disposition a resolution declaring that the contract with Markel was without legal authority and that the payment of $107,715 to him did not constitute a proper charge against the government.

Northern Securities.

Washington, March 6.—There will be no criminal prosecution of the persons responsible for the Northern Securities company. The statute of limitation stands in the way of such action. This fact was brought out in the House, when, in compliance with the request of John Sharp-Williams, the House passed a resolution calling on the Attorney General, "if not in his judgment incompatible with the public interest," to inform the House whether any such proceedings have been initiated. Chairman Jenkins of the judiciary committee accused Mr. Williams of ignorance of facts and conditions. The statute of limitation, Mr. Jenkins said, operated before the death of office and any proceeding by him would have been simply a waste of time.

Stirs Up Drug Trust.

Washington, March 6.—Having already assisted in forcing investigations of the coal trusts, hard and soft, and the Pennsylvania and other railroads, Representative Gillespie of Texas Monday started gunning for the tin calling upon the attorney general for information concerning the alleged conspiracy on the part of the wholesale and retail druggists and manufacturers against John W. Jennings, a druggist at 1142 Connecticut avenue, Washington.

Woman Accuses Nominee.

Washington, March 6.—Serious charges against W. T. Vernon, recently nominated by the president as register of the treasury, have been filed with the senate committee on finance by Emma Brown of Lawrence, Kan., a negro schoolteacher. The charges have been referred to Senator Burrows of Michigan, a member of the committee.

URGES COAST DEFENSES.

President Advises Congress to Protect American Harbors.

Washington, March 6.—President Roosevelt sent a message to congress Monday accompanying plans for coast defense prepared by a joint board of army and navy officers in which he emphasized the necessity for further defenses and reviewed the history of the defensive works in this country. The president calls especial attention to the recommendation of the board that the entrance to Chesapeake bay be added to the list of places in the United States to be defended. He says the insular possessions cannot be longer neglected if the United States desires to hold them. Defenses are recommended for Manila bay, Pearl harbor, Guantanamo, Guam, San Juan and Honolulu, because of their strategic locations. Defenses are recommended for entrances to the Panama canal.

ANY OTHERS IN DANGER?

John R. Walsh says that the evidence, when produced, will show that the charge made against him, and on which he has been arrested is false. That charge is that as president of the Chicago National Bank he made a false report of the condition of that institution to the controller of the currency. It is to be hoped that Mr. Walsh will be able to clear himself of this charge, for his conviction for such a crime would be a lamentable ending of a long and somewhat distinguished business career.

Without regard to the guilt or innocence of Mr. Walsh, it may be said that the arrest of a bank president on such a charge as this is a wholesome development. It is a sign that the spirit of the time demands a higher type of publicity, that it is unwilling to accept "window dressing" statements and doctored balance sheets and income accounts. There has been too much looseness in the production of reports and statements, which the law requires from financial and other corporations, even in cases where there is no actual criminality. An annual report should be an annual report, making a true disclosure of actual conditions, and not such a manipulation of figures as is designed to deceive.

A BITTER PILL.

By the action of the senate committee yesterday, which virtually killed the Philippine tariff bill for this Congress at least, the late House "insurgents" are taking their turn at smiling. Also the sugar and tobacco trusts—Beloit Free Press.

"The King Can Do No Wrong" is an excellent motto to follow but to blindly pin your faith to one congressman regardless of the rights of the people who go to make up the backbone of this senate is exceedingly foolish. The Beloit Free Press on several different occasions has cast slurs at the Gazette for its opposition to Mr. Cooper. In blindly following the lead of this statesman the Free Press lost sight of the farmers and their wishes in matters of important legislation. It intimates that the sugar and tobacco trusts and the "insurgents," the men who fought for the rights of their constitution, laughed when the Philippine bill was defeated in the senate committee room. Probably they did but it is safe to say that every tobacco and beet sugar grower in this county and in the whole first congressional district rejoiced with them. It meant their bread and butter regardless of politics. Congressman Cooper voted for this measure against the decided protest of a large proportion of his constituents who feared its evil effects upon local crops. In doing this, in blindly following the lead of others, Mr. Cooper placed himself on record as caring nothing for the interests of the district that has so long supported him in his election campaigns. Reference was made in these columns some days ago of the mix up at Lake Geneva where a strong administration supporter is alleged to have tried to extort a note from a post office possibility. The Free Press took exception to the article insinuating we were casting a reflection upon Mr. Cooper and his integrity. Nothing of the kind was intended. If Mr. Cooper was party to the deal he will be found out. If he was not his henchmen should be punished if found out. As a man Mr. Cooper is a gentleman and not a scheming slyster. As a politician he is looking after his own interests and the Beloit post office. The vote of the senate committee on the Philippine tariff bill is one which brings assurance that there will be nothing done at the present session. The passage of what was apparently such a harmless bill, intended only to benefit the poor Philippines has developed into a gigantic scheme to seize the best land in the islands and coin money at the expense of the American farmer. Protection of home industries has been the great watchword of the republican party for years. While the measure was an administration one it was a pernicious one in its effects and would have worked great detriment to the Wisconsin farmers. So along with the tobacco and sugar trusts the farmers of this congressional district rejoice in its defeat.

PRESS COMMENT.

"Milwaukee Sentinel." But the fact is the real "Heart peril" is issued daily in large editions.

And Not Hugging It Yet.
Exchange: The equitable craft has taken in salt and is headed $0,000,000 points closer to the wind than it was last year.

Chicago News: If neither German nor France wants war, and if King Edward is determined there shall not be any war, what is all the uneasiness about?

Stingy Ones Whimper.
Exchange: Not only do Carnegie libraries afford Mr. Carnegie the means whereby to get rid of money, but they perform a like service for some of the towns which try to maintain them.

Foreordained.
Chicago Record-Herald: The ice crop is a failure, for which reason the price of ice is to be advanced. Still, there is no reason to be discouraged. The price of ice would have been advanced if the crop had not been a failure.

Has Its Disadvantage.
Superior Telegram: A dozen men deserted from Sigbee's fleet at Naples, and a score of regulars shipped to Canada from Fort Niagara to avoid going to the Philippines. This thing of being a world power needs men who have some stomach to stay on the job.

Baker's Bread Formula Wanted.
Oshkosh Northwestern: Of course we are glad to be informed by the bakers that there is no deleterious alum in the bread which they are furnishing to us, but would they mind telling just as an accommodation, what it really does contain besides flour and water and yeast?

Joseph A. Jackal?
Chicago Record-Herald: Professor Charles F. Fagnani of Union Theological Seminary, commenting on the remarks of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., concerning Joseph's corner in corn, says: "Joseph was an oppressor and a human jackal. It is too late, however, to ask if Joseph will now be good."

Cigarette Law in England.
Dayton Herald: British legislation is far behind that of Indiana, Wisconsin and, possibly, Ohio. It is proposed to enact a parliamentary statute to suppress cigarette smoking by children. The measure will prohibit the sale of cigarettes to persons under 16 years of age and will punish the youngsters found smoking the nasty things.

Wasted Buttons Problem.

Boston Transcript: A man in Kansas has figured out that in that state alone there are 4,800,000 buttons now being worn on men's coat sleeves and serving no useful purpose—an investment, he further concludes, of about $30,000. But while he was about it, why didn't he include those other useless buttons that a man wears in the small of his back on very social occasions.

Muzzling The Press.
Beloit Free Press: The law, forbidding the publication of newspapers of the details of a hanging has been on the Minnesota statute book for ten years without enforcement, but now three St. Paul daily newspapers have been indicted for violation of the law in the case of the recent hanging of William Williams in that city. The case will be taken to the Supreme Court for the purpose of testing the law.

Making Things Hitch.
Milwaukee Free Press: The latest explanation of the seriousness of the Morocco conference is that if it is decided that France has special rights on account of its special interests there, then Germany will apply the same principle to Holland, with a view to its ultimate annexation. It is evidently necessary to find something which will support the correspondents' stories that the outcome of the conference will mean war.

China May Well Pause.
El Paso Herald: In the boycott, China is running up against the same thing that gave Germany pause in her idea of starting a tariff war with the United States—the fact that she needs American goods more than we need hers. Sir Tom Lipton's company would be more than glad to supply all the tea we happen to need from Ceylon; Japan is convinced that part of her duty in life is to sell us better silks at lower prices than China can; and Connecticut is simply waiting for a good square chance at the firecracker business. All of which facts are not unknown to Mr. Wu and the Peking government.

Move To Be Commended.
Sheboygan Journal: The movement of the Sheboygan Woman's club to form an archeological society in Sheboygan and to secure a collection of relics of the county's original Indian inhabitants for the Sheboygan public library should receive immediate endorsement. There are doubtless tens of thousands of little collections scattered through the city and county, unknown except to the possessors, which if brought together would make an exceedingly valuable exhibit. It would be a fine way of perpetuating the donor's name, moreover, to give these private collections to the club and have them labeled the "Jones collection" or the "Smith collection" or whoever the donor might be.

A Glorious Victory.
Milwaukee Sentinel: From the Washington correspondent of the anonymous Milwaukee organ it is learned that Senator La Follette already has the United States senate in a groggy condition, hugging to avoid punishment when it is not sidestepping and clinging to the ropes. It appears to be only a question of time when the final solar plexus blow will be delivered and there will be no one left in the ring but the junior senator from Wisconsin, and, possibly, some eight or nine democrats. Then, the business of that dignified body will be conducted as it should be.

This gratifying news comes in the form of a dispatch which tells how Senator La Follette won a glorious victory by offering an amendment to prevent the sale of Indian lands in Indian territory to railroad corporations. The amendment was defeated, but the victory was a glorious one nevertheless. He won another victory when it was pointed out to him that his amendment contained an important clause that was in conflict with the constitution of the United States. This triumph was achieved by his offering to amend his amendment.

FOURTEEN ALARMS
IN 1905 THUS FAR

Total Loss Less Than $350—Net Loss for 1905 Not Over $1,500—

Chief Klein's Report.
Along with the statement in dollars of the incredibly small fire loss in Janesville during the year 1905 and the good record in the same line thus far this year, a number of other interesting matters are set forth for the consideration of the city officers and citizens in the report submitted by Chief Engineer H. C. Klein to the council last evening.

Gentlemen: In compliance with charter provisions I herewith submit my quarterly report, as Chief Engineer of the fire department, and in so doing it affords me great pleasure to state the fire losses during the year 1905 were exceedingly small. There being one fire on which I have not as yet received the amount of loss; but I will be safe in stating that during this time the loss will not exceed $1,500. This amount represents both the insured and uninsured loss. In looking over the fire record kept in the office of the chief engineer I find the above loss is the smallest that has been in Janesville in a great many years and I hope we will be as fortunate during the ensuing year.

Fourteen Alarms this Year.
Since the first day of January the department has responded to fourteen fire alarms, of which nine were telephone or "still" alarms. The loss on these fires is less than $350. The horses of the department are in good serviceable condition. One horse was purchased since my last report, and he has proved to be a good one for this service. One more will be purchased as soon as a suitable one can be found. With the exception of the exercising and number 3, all fire wagons are in good serviceable condition. This exercising wagon should have part of a new box. The number 2 must have a general overhauling. As this wagon is in a dangerous condition I will respectfully ask that the Fire and Water Committee be given authority to have this wagon repaired and painted.

River Street Tracks.
In my quarterly report I called the attention of your honorable body to the condition of River street, on the account of the railway tracks. As much as there has been no action taken in this matter I again take the liberty to bring this before you. It seems to me if this was brought to the attention of the railway company in the right light it would remove these tracks to accommodate the fire department when it is necessary to travel northward on this street.

During the month of December last I connected to the alarm system one private alarm box, the same was installed in the Rock River Woolen Mill and is numbered #2. All the expense for the same was paid by that company.

Key Guards Advocated.
I would respectfully ask permission to equip twenty fire alarm boxes with key guards. This device is used for the protection of key holes in fire boxes, which "young America" seems bound to tamper with, and may some time embarrass and delay the department on account of a citizen being unable to make use of the fire alarm telegraph, by reason of the key hole being plugged. The cost of the same will be $50.

Appended to this report you will find a statement which was sent to me by a representative of the insurance companies, in which they set forth their desires or recommendations that the city of Janesville is in need of (as seen by them), to strengthen the fire department so as to meet their approval. I pass this report to your honorable body for your consideration.

Respectfully submitted,
H. C. KLEIN,
Chief Engineer.

WEEKLY REPORT OF THE WOOL MARKET

A Million and a Half Pounds of the Montevideo Product Was Purchased.

The feature of the week that excites most comment, and interest among the wool trade is the transfer of one million and a half of Montevideo remaining from last year's importations. Of that amount 300,000 pounds were bought for Antwerp account, while the remainder was taken for one of the largest worsted mills of this country.

This wool, held by three leading summer street firms, had been long neglected, but was finally called for and let go at 24c. This sale of cross breeds carried over from last year, was made at a loss of $60,000, so it is said.

A merchant in speaking of the situation says, "I am glad that the contracting is stopped and hope that there will be no more unloading, shearing time, when we will have an opportunity of examining the wools, and know what we obtain for our money." Every pound of wool bought at the prices our western friends demand would show a dead loss today. Under the present conditions the former are making from 100 to 150 per cent on their sheep. The only men operating in territory wools last year who made any money were those who had bought up contracts early in the season. At Philadelphia buyers show no disposition to abandon their conservative policy of operating for their near wants. At St. Louis there is a little better feeling prevailing in the grades that are in demand. The situation in the territory wools remains unchanged. There has been a moderate inquiry recently in London, but sales have been numerous and the quantity sold has been but small, which is mainly accounted for by the position taken up by the brokers and merchants who have raised their prices and stick to their quotations.

There are conditions belonging to the immediate present and affecting the whole body of business in the United States which calls for prudence on the part of everybody having anything at stake. It is altogether probable that some time during the year 1906, there will be a material curtailment of industrial and commercial activity in the United States, and while the materials for forming an opinion on the subject are scant at the moment, it is likely that the volume of trade this year as measured by bank clearings will be less than that of 1905.

It cannot be forgotten, however, that everything in the country at this time is strained up to the highest tension. Business is bigger than ever before. Securities are nearer their highest points, prices of commodities are pretty close to the top notch. Labor is higher than ever, that there should be a reaction from this is in the nature of things. It is quite conceivable that such a change might extend to a large number of enterprises. At the different feeding stations shearing is now in progress; the whole showing up poor in quality short in staple and at the present amounts to nothing more than for good filling purposes, although the quality of the best grades are in good conditions and were they left until the length of staple would mature, they would make excellent clips and be in demand.

Prices on the new clip are as yet undecided as to what the future may bring forth. That will depend on the output of the cloth manufacturers and the demand from the consumers, to a large extent.

HAD A DIFFERENT EXPERIENCE THIS TIME.

"To tell you the truth, Dr. Richards," said the wife of one of our most prosperous merchants, "I have neglected my teeth for years, since Dr. B. of this city filled some teeth for me."

"He hurt me so dreadfully that I laughed and cried in almost hysterics when at last he let me out of that chair."

"Well," said Dr. Richards, "how was it with me?"

"You didn't hurt me a bit," said she and she had him fill a lot of teeth with gold and also some bad teeth extracted.

It is very pleasant to Dr. Richards to receive these kind words from bright, intelligent people who know when they receive good services and appreciate them.

The multitude of hearty endorsements given Dr. Richards in this city by people who have tried him and found his work really painless, makes him stand out clearly among his fellows as the man who does real painless dentistry in Janesville.

THEY FILED PAPERS AT ELEVENTH HOUR

Three More Candidates for Places on Republican Ticket Were in Just Before the Gong Rang.

Eleventh-hour nomination papers were filed just before five o'clock yesterday afternoon by Walter S. Rice of 57 Mineral Point avenue, who seeks to displace W. H. Merritt as republican alderman from the first ward. Mr. Rice was a member of the council several years ago when the Municipal League was organized to purge the city politics and was succeeded by Judge Sale. It was understood at that time that he had retired permanently from office. The announcement that he is again a candidate comes as a surprise to those who were cognizant of the "inner workings" of the league at the time. R. C. Tamm, who wants to be the republican candidate for constable from the second ward, and J. W. Maxfield, who also desires to be the republican candidate for constable from the same ward, also filed papers. As matters now stand James A. Paterson has no opponent either in his own or the democratic party for the office of city treasurer and there is no democratic candidate for the office of city attorney. One democratic city official last evening made the statement that the primary election law and La Folletteism had almost completely disorganized the democratic party in the city. The few men who might care to run for office under that banner are unwilling to assume the whole burden of the campaign which might cost them a good part of what the offices would pay and prefer to quietly step aside, and allow things to take their course until there shall be some sort of a new alignment.

TOBACCO MARKET IS EXCEEDINGLY DULL

Report from Edgerton Is Not Encouraging for the Big Tobacco Dealers.

Receiving of the new crop is still the order of the day throughout the tobacco sections of the state, says the Edgerton Reporter. Close to three-fourths of the crop has now been delivered and dealers are arranging to take in the balance at the earliest convenience. The middle of March will doubtless see the great bulk of the crop housed and growers handling the proceeds. T. B. Earle, C. L. Cullton, McIntosh Bros., Meyer & Mendelsohn, A. Cohn & Co., and the United Cigar Manufacturers at Edgerton are receiving largely in Vernon county this week, some of whom will take the last of their purchases there. The amount of money required to handle the crop is far in excess of several years past. One firm alone has paid out to growers upwards of $700,000 to date. There are no developments in the cured leaf market worthy of note. Plenty of goods could be sold if they were now in stock of the dealers. Warehouse handling is being crowded along at the packing points as fast as labor conditions will permit with a prospect that the crop will be handled before the advent of warm weather. The shipments out of storage do not exceed 4000s from this market to all points for the week. Seventy-seven carloads were received from outlying points for warehouse handling during the week.

HAMLIN GARLAND

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY HAMLIN GARLAND

CHAPTER I.

NEARLY the entire boat load of passengers was jammed along the forward gates, ready to spring out upon the Jersey wharf, restive to reach the waiting trains, but quite apart from all these whose faces were set westward three people—a girl, a man, and a boy—were a slim lad—lingered on the after deck as though loath to take their leave of the imperial city.

The resemblance of the monstrous bice of humankind to a height of land was so marked; so singular, that the pale lad remarked upon it, and the boy, a pale lad of seventeen, cried out in shrill accents:

"Yes, but think of the real mountains we're going to climb!"

The girl did not speak for a moment, and when she did her voice was distinctly sorrowful. "I feel as though I were saying goodbye to everything worth while."

"Including me?" asked her escort.

She did not smile, but her accent was kindly as she answered, "Yes, Wayne, including you."

"Oh, sis, you make me tired," cried the boy. "Just as if going west were bidding goodbye to everything!" He beat his chest. "I'm just beginning to live now. I'm glad to get away from the stuffy old town. I want to see something besides Fifth avenue and Central park."

Wayne Peabody laughed good naturedly down at the boy. "You wouldn't care if civilization did stop at the west bank of the Hudson river, would you?"

"I should say not. I'm tired of it all—the noise and the pavements and the heat and the wetness. I want to get out where the wolves and the cranes and the cowboys are; I want to hit the trail and find where father's camps were."

The girl spoke musically. "It's singular, but I have a premonition of some dark fate—some vague sorrow. I never felt so before—not even on my trip to Egypt. If I don't come back I want you to note that I was forewarned. Let's go forward."

Peabody remarked in a low voice: "Louis is transformed already. It will do him all kinds of good to go west."

"I hope so," she replied rather dreamily, "but he seems unwholesomely excited at the present moment."

"He'll get over that."

"I fear he will be disappointed. Father's trip was made nearly twenty-five years ago, when it was a really wonderful land."

"He is young. He will relapse into it." The boy stood like some beautiful animal poised for a spring as the ferry shouldered its clumsy way into the Jersey dock. He was of less bulk than his strong, composed, modish sister, and his face was as dark as his mobile and as eager as his hair and his impulsive. Peabody experienced once again a twinge of regret that Ann had not some of her brother's radiant enthusiasm.

Surrounded by porters and wearing an air of command, Louis led the way to the sleeping car, impatient of his sister's deliberation. On one hip he carried a pair of large field glasses and over the other a costly camera, while half concealed cases of pencils and pads of drawing paper bulging from his pockets announced his artistic intention.

As the time for the train to start drew near Peabody strove to win some softer word from Ann, but she was not of those who manifest emotion. Her training and her temperament were alike opposed to easy expression. When he tried to take her hand a second time with eyes that entreated she recoiled.

"No, no! You have no right to expect that!"

He was no longer a boy, and he was bred to self control; therefore, though his voice trembled a little, he spoke quietly: "Goodbye, Ann. Write every day, won't you?"

In a voice which chilled him she replied: "Every day is pretty often, but you will hear from me. Go and see mother, please. She will not say so, but she will be glad to have you come."

"Depend upon me," he said, lifting his hat. His bearded face betrayed no emotion, but his eyes were hot with pain and grief.

here and now she sat, rushing toward the west to a town repulsive to her; a place of emptiness and weariness, a social desert, where no one lived but her cousins, the Bernetts, to whose hospitable door they were bound as voyagers on a wide sea to a snug harbor. Without that home as a point of arrival Ann Rupert would have been in such uncertainty of mind as besets a sailor on a chartless sea.

She was making this abhorrent trip in order that her brother might thrive in his physical well being as well as in his art. He had recently determined on being an illustrator of wild animal books. "I'm going to study them at first hand," he repeated often, "the way Melbourn Foster has done. And besides, I want to illustrate father's journal." This journal, the record of a trip into the west made by Philip Rupert before his marriage, had come to be the most powerful influence in the lad's life. It was a worn little red book in which the father had written the daily happenings and impressions of his trip, and its discovery by Louis in a box of old papers had quite transformed his life. It had made him an American, filling him with a longing for the "Tesperian mountains," as the father called the romantic land he had seen but once, but whose splendor lived with him throughout the remainder of his short life.

As they sat at the table in the dining car Ann again listened indulgently to her brother's plans, and permitted him to order the dinner and assume all the manners of a grown man, honestly trying to conceal her own weariness of spirit, sincerely regretful of her bitter words on the ferry.

Louis was not weary. He eyed every man who came in, and to discover some western trait, some outward sign of inward difference between himself and his companions, but could not. They were all quite commonplace business men, well dressed, close clipped and of urban manner. Some of them were evidently salesmen going over to Philadelphia or out to Chicago, and they all ate long and with every evidence of enjoyment. Some of the women were young and pretty—students returning to the west for their summer vacations.

Once more in the privacy of her stateroom and looking out at the landscape reeling past, Ann sank back in her seat wholly dismayed. "What in the world can I do out there?" she asked herself most poignantly. "Of course they don't play golf or tennis, and I can't ride, and, besides, whom could I play with? Jeannette is not a bit athletic." And again the small round of her interests—she had no gayeties—was borne in upon her. "I shall die of inactivity!"

Louis excused himself quite formally and went back into the smoking compartment to sit with the men; while Ann, left alone, gave herself up to a close, half-ironic study of the absurdity of her position. With a dozen most desirable invitations to distinguished London homes, with everything before her or two big men came in wearing wide hats and chin beards, he trembled with joy. "There are some gentlemen—I'm sure of it," he whispered hoarsely.

Louis did not return to the Pullman till after the train had left the city, and she was just beginning to wonder thereat when he came in with eyes ablaze. "I've struck 'em at last!" he fairly shouted in her ear. "They're all up in the reclining chairs, chin beards, spitters, and all—I'm just crazy to sketch two or three of them. It doesn't pay to ride in a stateroom if you want to see types," he added in conclusive discontent.

As that day and the next wore on the boy began to burn with a new phase of his fever. He commenced to count the hours till he might be able to discern Mogalony, the great peak of the Rampart range, whose fame is worldwide. Ann experienced her first decided flush of interest as the swinging, reclining rush of the train brought the great peak into view, a dim, blue dome against the western sky.

At last just as the red was pulling out of the city, the train swung to the left on its southerly course, and the whole Rampart range began to stretch and wind away to northward and southward, while between the plain and the foothills rolled a tawny sea of soil, deeply marked with ravines and dotted with pine clad buttes. The range grew dimmer as they gazed, and at last even Louis was content to sink back in his seat and wait.

"It isn't bit as I expected it to be," he said, "but it is glorious. That purple green was wonderful. I'm going to try to get that some time. It isn't as precipitous as the Alps, but it's superb just the same, and just think how much wilder it was when father came here!"

"I'm glad you were not disappointed, boy," she replied, laying her hand on his shoulder and caressing his cheek, "but you need rest. You're feeling too much."

The train was now winding down toward Valley Springs, and only the splendid sky line of the range could be distinguished as the lights of the town began to sparkle out of the obscure murk.

The porter, with brush in hand, came down the aisle. "This is Valley Springs, miss."

They were met at the car door by a big, smiling man in modish summer dress, while behind him stood a pale, sweet faced woman in blue.

"Hello, Don!" shouted Louis.

"Hello, laddie! How do you do, Ann?" replied Burnett, and as Ann and her cousin embraced the big man caught Louis by the hand. "How's your muscle, my boy? Got all your traps? Here, Tom!" he called to a colored footman, "look out for these things."

Come to See the Fashion Approved Fabrics for 1906

ONE day may hold more of interest than another among the dress goods and silks. Just at present, when shelves and counters are loading up with the newest things, and before any lines are broken and depleted, we promise you a treat; first sight of the woolen and silk fabrics which fashion has firmly demanded.

There are radical style-changes, many departures from past modes, and our latest arrivals mark the changes clearly. We have been especially careful in buying to be sure that when style and weaving please you, durability shall not be lacking—that the wearing qualities of every yard of goods that passes over our counters shall thoroughly satisfy our customers.

It's just this sharp attention to detail in buying, the days we spend in going from manufacturer to manufacturer, searching and testing, refusing the inferior and accepting only the best, that has made our dress goods department a favorite in this city.

About prices!—they are right in every respect; that you'll find your money "going farther" than ever before— even at this store—so come, prepared to be surprised.

Better come soon!

Grays easily take first place among the favorites of fashion this season. Other popular colors are various shades of blue, brown, green, red. We mention only a few today:

40-inch Silkine Mohair, beautiful for shirt waist suits; light weight, silk finish, having silk look when made up; greens, blues, brown, black, $1.00.

56-inch cream wool Suitings in small even and broken checks are quite the thing; $2.00.

For street wear this spring very light weight suitings will be much in evidence. The late ideas are here in abundance.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS ATTACK PROFESSORS

Fierce Criticism of University of Wisconsin Faculty in Editorial in the Daily Cardinal.

Madison, Wis., March 6.—In an editorial in the Daily Cardinal, the students' journal at the University of Wisconsin, the professors are charged with being "intellectual aristocrats," "snobs," "penitent monks" and a dozen other things, and the editors give the legislative investigating committee a few tips about the management of the institution.

The editorial says: "The legislative committee will find if it pursues its investigation long enough and searching enough that there has grown up among our university professors a certain intellectual aristocracy which is far from beneficial to the students and the state."

"Many of those professors who are reported to have built up the University of Wisconsin have placed themselves upon pedestals, like the penitent monks of old in the eastern countries."

"History tells us, however, that the influence of these penitent monks would have been far better had they mingled among men and taught them, by example, the paths of righteousness. Perhaps the influence of our professors would be far more widespread if they would call for a ladder, climb down from their lofty seats and mingle among us as men."

"We do not know them and they do not know us. We can not excuse this attitude in our best and oldest professors, much less can we excuse it in the rising young instructor who believes that since his name is placed upon the pay roll as a 'prof' he must needs assume the demeanor of a snob and try to drive his students into intellectual fields in the same manner and with the same motives that the section boss employs when he drives his men for the honor and glory of himself and for the financial benefit of his employers."

"We want to know our teachers, and we have a right to their acquaintanceship. If they are 'dubs,' in the modern sense, we shall soon learn to know that also, but our contempt for them will be no greater than now."

STATE NOTES

District Attorney Otto Bosshard, Ald. Harry Palmer, and other pedestrians were attacked by a mad dog at La Crosse. The dog was corralled and killed.

C. A. Sterling, proprietor of the Hotel Law at La Crosse, was fined for permitting the buffet in his hotel to run after midnight. The city authorities have started a crusade against the saloons.

Judge Monahan refused a new trial for W. Clawson of Minocqua, convicted of obtaining money under false pretenses by securing $500 from D. M. Hagerty.

CUT IN OIL RATES BLOW TO STANDARD COMPANY

Missouri Railroad Commission Fixes Flat Charge Between St. Louis and Kansas City.

St. Louis, Mo., March 6.—By reducing the freight rate on oil shipped between St. Louis and Kansas City to 9 cents per hundred pounds the Missouri railroad commissioners Monday gave the oil trust a severe blow. The existing rate is 20 cents from St. Louis to Kansas City and 17 cents from Kansas City to St. Louis. This discrimination has long been protested against by independent refiners, who claimed it was manifestly unjust and in favor of the trust, which has refineries at Kansas City. The action of the commissioners was taken at a hearing of the case brought by the National Refining company of Cleveland.

Owing to the absence of H. Clay Pierce, former president, and Charles M. Adams, secretary of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, the hearing of depositions in the case of the State of Missouri against the Republic, Waters-Pierce and Standard Oil companies, to oust them from the state was continued to March 19. Counsel for Mr. Pierce and Mr. Adams said the witnesses would be ready to testify week after next.

MAY CAUSE ARREST IN SCHOOL BOARD SCANDAL

Citizens Start Quo Warranto Proceedings at Peoria to Oust Dougherty Dupes From Office.

Peoria, Ill., March 6.—The arrest of several members of the school board which allowed Newton C. Dougherty to steal nearly $1,000,000 is the latest phase of the recent scandal in this city. Such action is being urged by a number of prominent citizens who have instituted quo warranto proceedings against the board to show cause why they should hold office. Judge Worthington in the circuit court Monday allowed the quo warranto proceedings and set March 12 as the day when the members of the board should appear.

At the regular meeting of the board Monday night it was unanimously voted not to force action against the Peoria National bank, which failed with the news of Dougherty's defalcation, and not to prosecute the bondsmen of the several treasurers. By this action the board agrees to accept about $300,000, which is said to be all Dougherty's property, and to allow further prosecution to drop. The minority members of the board are opposed to this action and may later start action against the bank and bondsmen.
